

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0088] A method and device for controlled cell adhesion is provided. The device comprises lipid bilayer membranes arranged into discrete areas in a micro-array. They are useful for screening and modulation of living cell adhesion and growth on a solid substrate. The lipid bilayer membranes are doped with various lipids and/or proteins to modulate the adherence of the cells being used in the device.

2007/05/27 09:13:03